The Needy People Society was formed and consisting 25 (Twenty five) dedicated and energetic members for the enlistment of the common rural people and to improve the socio-economic condition of the concern society and individuals through the society was formed on 31 Dec 2000 with a goal to promote the sprit of the fraternity and unity, the society was Registration on 18/09/2001 vide No Rs-1794 on 18/09/2001. The society has been actively involved in Cultural, social welfare services and Farmers activities for the betterment of the society as a whole and to improve the economic states of the common rural people in the society.

Residential Camp: The Society conduct the Residential Camp where 50 (Fifty) Non student has taken part and the society appoint (3) three Teacher for two month the syllabus of the camp was HIV, Health, Pollution, General Knowledge and History of Nagaland & our Nation. Process of HIV & AID:- These services that are needed by the high-risk groups are not currently available in the community in a form that is accessible to the high-risk groups and unless such services are provided to the high-risk groups an opportunity to check the growth of HIV epidemic would be lost. It is also noticed that with due concern that the number of students (Below 10 to 16 years) left the schools in this regard Government is trying to create educational atmosphere. As we know, the adolescents of today are the leaders of India tomorrow. The adolescent are the cream of the society. A promising and potential adolescent with noble ideas and qualified will be able to provide dynamic leadership. During this program the Society expenses Rs. 2,60,120/-

Seminar on Human Rights: These rights are inherent to every individual and for this reason it is called Human Rights, Human Rights are very much essential for a good and qualitative human survival liberty of the individual and respect for his dignity. These principles have been enshrined in the fundamental rights. The constitution of India has made provision for a specific fundamental rights that a citizen cannot be compelled to be a witness against himself the Indian Police act , under which the entire police organization in India derives its legitimacy and the policemen their powers of function, prohibits unwarranted personal violence by police officers to any person in police custody. Their punitive procedures, both administrative and judicial, in case of complaints of custodial violence. Custodial violence is anathema in any civilized society. It is ironic to see that whereas the state is the guarantor and protector of human rights, most of the cases are registered against the state itself, which concern the violence of human rights. During this program the Society expenses Rs. 2,01,260/-

Women Leadership Program: In India, women constitute slightly less than 50 per cent of The country's population Despite some favorable traditional values and customs and emergence of powerful women personalities down the ages, the position of women is not very rosy. Their social and economic status is, however, relatively low and they are discriminated against in practically all walks of life. For centuries, women have been confined to home and suppressed and deprived of their rights to get a fair treatment from the male dominated society Women's development is, therefore, been one of the major issues in India. Right from independence, gender discrimination has been identified as one of the most serious and contentious issues. After independence, it was realized that India's potentials cannot be harnessed unless women became equal partners in development. Indian Constitution has made special provisions to ensure women's rights. The organizations also operate shelters for abused women. Participants are encouraged to spend time with the women in the shelters in order to gain a more personal understanding of the women. Individual assignments include data collection, reporting, and caring for children in the human trafficking division, grant writing, and public health campaigns. On this program the Society expenses Rs. 2,04,100/-

Drug Rehabilittee Program: The Society is running drug de-addiction centre at Jaluki Town where 141 Alcoholism & Substance drugs addicts are taken shelter for treatment during 2017-2018. The main objectives of this programme is to take the society and may be mentioned here that such de-addiction centre will benefit for the alcoholism & substance drugs addicts youths to come forward & leading drug & alcoholism free Life. Drugs make the addict extremely -aggressive without reason and create psychological anxiety complexes. A great feeling of insecurity settles in the mind of the drug addict. Infantile regression even tens to take place making the addict hate parents if he is dependent on them. On the whole, in a most abnormal state of mind, a drug-addict is parlous of infirm. The physique of a drug-consumer becomes extremely lethargic when the drug's impact is wearing off. When the drug is taken afresh, there is a quick burst of energy, which makes the addict do things with enthusiasm. This state is known as "rush". For a few moments everything looks rosy with the world as a stage and the user feels quite high. Under this program the Society expenses for fooding, lodging, medicine and Salary of Warden, Asst Worden, Peon, Accountant, Sweeper, Cook, Asst Cook, Project Coordinator Cum Vocational Counsellor, Yoga Therapist, Nurse, Doctor and building rents Rs-10,90,250/-

Education Awareness Program: Literacy and reading skills are thought of as the foundation for learning. However, it is estimated that many students enter secondary school without having mastered literacy/language competencies. Literacy instruction does not seem to have a significant place in the primary education curricula on the premise that such skills have been acquired at the primary level. In this context, this research study titled "Improving the Quality of Literacy Learning in the Content Areas-Situational Analysis of Secondary Level Education in Nagaland" reviewed and analyzed current policy and practices regarding the quality of the literacy curriculum and assessment of secondary education in Peren District, Nagaland. society expenses Rs. 1,46,983/-

Adolescent Program:- Adolescence is a phase during which tremendous physical and psychological changes occur, along with changes in social perceptions and expectations. Some of the public health challenges for adolescents include pregnancy, excess risk of maternal and infant mortality, sexually transmitted infections and reproductive tract infections, and the rapidly rising incidence of HIV in this age group. Thus it is important to influence the health-seeking behavior of adolescents as their situation will be central in determining India's health, mortality and morbidity; and the population growth scenario. Investment in adolescent reproductive and sexual health will positively influence maternal mortality rate, infant mortality rate reducing incidence of teenage pregnancy, meeting unmet contraceptive needs, reducing the incidence of sexually transmitted infections

Piggery Program:- A part from providing meat, it is also a source of bristles and manure. Pig farming will provide employment opportunities to seasonally employed rural farmers and supplementary income to improve their living standards. The advantages of the pig farming are:

- a) They are prolific with shorter generation interval. A sow can be bred as early as 8-9 months of age and can farrow twice in a year. They produce 6-12 piglets in each farrowing.
- b) Pigs are known for their meat yield, which in terms of dressing percentage ranges from 65 - 80 in comparison to other livestock species whose dressing yields may not exceed 65%. Under this program the Society expenses Rs-5,70,400. And organization got income Rs.4,50,100/--The Income amount was used to maintain of Drugs Rehabilittee.

Food demand varies according to the age and body weight of pigs. See the chart below to learn about the required daily feeds according to the body weight of different aged pigs
